Plans For Mission Bay Project Aired

Official notice was given the city council Tuesday of Mission Bay improvement plans that contemplate the complete separation of San Diego river channel from Mission bay in a revised flood-control program under the surveys made by the U. S. army board of engineers.

According to the revised program, all the flow of the river is to be diverted from its present outlet into the bay and instead is to be confined to the proposed channel which aims to carry all the river flow direct to the ocean.

The council adopted a resolution assuring the government of cooperation in the improvement, re-affirming a similar resolution passed July 1, 1941. The resolution pledges the city to purchase the necessary land for flood control and to complete the Mission bay development within five years after the government completes the river channelization.

James S. Dean, state director of finance, approved on Sept. 7 a contract between the city and state whereby the state department of public works will undertake the project of building a jetty or other beach cross in control works at the mouth of Mission Bay, the estimated cost of $68,658 to be shared equally by the city and the state commission, according to a report published in the daily press. Exact location of the jetty was not stated in the news dispatch.

Oppose Taking Out Bridge
Opposition to taking out the present direct bridge between Ocean Beach and Mission Beach, as outlined by City Planning Director Glenn Rick, in his tentative plan for Mission Bay improvement, was voiced here this week by Carl Schroder, president of the Mission Bay Chamber of Commerce. He said that plan would leave the northwest part of Ocean Beach and south Mission Beach as "dead ends," and would reduce Mission Bay's patronage of Ocean Beach bank and business houses because of the inconvenience that the proposed round-about connection over three new bridges between the two communities would mean. He said the new proposed route between the two communities would be at least three miles longer than the present one. Bus service to the area involved also would be reduced, he said.

The proposed Ricks plan eliminates the present bridge in order to provide a yacht harbor just inside the present Mission Bay outlet to the ocean. A drawing of the Ricks plan, as recently published, also shows the northwest part of the bay to be made into a sail boat course, and the northeast part into a water course for power boats. Remainder of the bay is to be filled in, according to this plan.

Alleged 'House of Commons' Member To Go On Trial

Following what Sgt. R. J. Karrow reports as at least two dozen complaints of "goings-on" at 4481 Montalvo st., Wm. Conover, 49, was taken in tow by the Ocean Beach police Sept. 3 on a charge of violation of the city health ordinance and of the alcohol beverage control act with failure to obtain permit to sell and handle liquor.

The complaints had been, according to the police, that beer was being sold, that there were children in the party, that there was quarreling in the street and even fighting.

Conover pleaded not guilty and is being held for trial, reports Karrow.

Several unusual angles to the case were uncovered by the police, reports Karrow, who states that on the evening in question they found a large group at the address mentioned, in which there were several different races. They also found a sign on the house entitled "House of Commons," and were informed that the group involved are in the habit of meeting at various homes of the members. "We also were informed

IN THE SERVICE

News from our local boys in service as well as letters or excerpts of letters will be gladly published in this newspaper. Please bring them in for many service men receive the Ocean Beach News by mail weekly and are glad to hear of former friends.

Mrs. E. S. Lloyd, 2071 Froude, reports that at last she has received a telegram from her son, Fred B. Lloyd, stating that he is safe. He is on duty with the Merchant Marine.

Second Lt. Oakley M. Hall, 3660 Voltaire st., has completed advanced officers training at the Quantico, Va. Marine base and is now ready for assignment to a combat unit or specialized school.

B-M Donald V. Widener, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Widener, 4875 Coronado ave., is again at sea, after a short leave spent at his home here, recently. They have another son, Weldon, Seaman 2-c, who also is in the Navy. He is stationed near the Hawaiian Islands.

Word has been received from Cpl. Louis De Guevara by his mother, Mrs. Baina De Guevara, 4868 Del Monte ave., stating that he expects to arrive soon in the United States on furlough after serving nearly four years in the Central Pacific theatre of operations with the coast artillery.

Chief Pr. An and Mrs. H. J. Golden, 4926 Del Monte, are home from a two weeks trip to Winner, S.D. They visited Mrs. Golden's mother and other relatives. Mrs. Golden, who works at the downtown O.P.A. office, was on her vacation and Mr. Golden was on leave from his duties with the navy.

M. C. Frigerio, Jr., 4935 Niagara ave., is home from nine months duty on board a Casablanca class escort carrier in the Pacific. He had served with Composite Squadron 41, which was composed of General Motors version of the Navy's Grumman Wildcat fighting plane, and the Standard Grauman Avenger torpedo bombers.

First Lt. Charles Davis writes The News from Washington, D. C. where he is on duty with the Marine Corps, stating that his name was erroneously placed in the honor roll published the August 25 News as being with the Army. Instead, he says, he has been with the Marine Corps for 31 years. He also mentions that his son, Chas. J. Davis, ex-West Point, is a lieutenant in the corps of engineers of the Army.

Lt. Col. John E. Fitzgerald Jr., 2808 Chatsworth blvd., has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement while serving as air commander of a Flying Fortress combat wing on several bombing missions over enemy territory. He also holds the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters. He flew to England and assumed his present command in Feb. 1944. He has been in the A.A.F. since enlistment in August 1939.

David C. Carver, radio electrician, whose wife resides at 5057 Newport ave., has been cited for skill and heroism as a dive bomber gunner in an attack on enemy shipping at Rabaul in Nov. 1943. He was given the award of the Commendation Ribbon, the naval air station at Astoria, Ore., announced last week. Carver holds four other ribbons, American Defense with one star; American Area; European-Africa and Good Conduct with four stars. He entered the Navy Dec. 28, 1922.

Mrs. C. O. Carl writes from Escondido that her son, Pvt. Cecil L. Carl, who is in the infantry, is now stationed at Camp Roberts. He was born and raised at Ocean Beach, she says. She also mentions her daughter's husband, A-C Harry S. Ainslie, who had lived in Ocean Beach five years and is in the Army Air Corps. He has finished gunnery at Las Vegas, Nev., and left Sept. 2 for advanced training at another base. The Navy for 14 years.

C. of C. Names Committee on Bay Development

Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce, at the September meeting, held Monday evening, passed a motion to have a special committee to keep tab on the proposed Mission Bay improvement. Pres. Lloyd Greeson named John Loftus, Jerry Sullivan, Earl Shaw, Dan Moss and Frank F. Swan. The motion followed discussion pro and con of the proposed elimination of the present bridge connecting Ocean Beach and Mission Beach. Several other matters came before the meeting.

Action was taken appropriating $50 to the proposed community recreation center across from the elementary school and $45 worth in baked goods from the two local bakeries to be given the Ocean Beach USO. A part of the latter was contributed by members present.

Discussion pro and con on the San Diego Electric Railway's proposal to construct a bus terminal at the corner of Sunset Cliffs and Orchard ave. was heard. No action was taken, however, since there is indication that the company will not proceed with the plan, at least for the time being, and cannot proceed until the city zoning commission grants a zone variance petition that has been filed by the company.

A motion passed asking that a thank-you letter be sent to Fred A. Rhodes, director of the city public works department, for his road improvement work in one of the hill sections of the community. Action was taken directing that two other letters be sent, one to Joe W. Brennan, harbor San Diego, for his attention to the 200-foot pier extending from the fishing pier to the foot of Del Monte ave. and the other to Police Chief Clifford Peterson and to Lt. Bruce Weston, head of the Ocean Beach station, protesting bicycle riding at dangerous speeds on sidewalks in Ocean Beach, by youths of various ages. Several complaints had come in from elderly women that they have narrowly escaped being injured by reason of such violation of the city ordinances.

Harry Masters, deputy area commander of Civilian Defense, brought before the meeting the need for business men and others to be ready to comply with the regulations in vent of a "black-out" on this part of the coast.

Mrs. Lloyd Greeson reported an attendance of 5,550 at the local USO for August, that more than 400 had been served buffet suppers and more than 180 had taken advantage of the swimming facilities.

daughter, Elaine, and their baby daughter, Sandra, are living with Mr. and Mrs. Carl at Del Dios, near Escondido for the "duration."

Robert K. Yount Jr., aviation ordinance-man 1-c of 4615 Green st., is one of eight San Diego air-men who have just returned home for leave and re-assignment following a year's duty in the Pacific. They were engaged in two months of thundering aerial action against the Japs, in which their carrier-based group destroyed 205 enemy planes and sunk or damaged 38 ships. Yount also took part in the Fourth of July celebration over the Bonins. In the battle of the eastern Philippines his plane was credited with one and possibly two bomb hits on a large Jap carrier. Yount, a former Pt. Loma high school student, participated in 21 combat sorties. Mrs. Wm. J. Egan, 4484 Saratoga ave., had the pleasure last week of receiving a large batch of letters from her husband, Lt. Wm. J. Egan, in which he states that he is now back at a naval base in the Hawaiian Islands after being in the thick of the fighting in the southwest Pacific waters for the past four months. In that period the new type deep sea submarine on which he is the engineer officer, sank two Jap destroyers and one large Jap troop transport ship. He wrote that among the delights of being back at the base again was that of "soaking two hours in a hot bath and of drinking the first milk he and his men had had since April 3. The bluejackets drank it like it were the very nectar of life," he wrote. Lt. Egan has been in the Navy for 14 years.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES ORDINANCE FOR CONTROL, OCEAN BEACH BUILDING

San Diego city council, at the Tuesday meeting, took action authorizing the city attorney to draw an ordinance that will provide architectural control of building in Ocean Beach community. The city planning commission had given unanimous approval of the matter, reports John A. Tipton, Ocean Beach business man, who had taken a leading part in the campaign for the improvement. He attended the council meeting on Tuesday.

City's Place in Aviation Told by Kiwanis Speaker

San Diego's part in aviation and its expected place in the future were the subject of an informative talk by Wm. J. Brotherton, public relations head of the Ryan Aeronautical Co., at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Kiwanis club, held in the Woman's clubhouse. He was introduced by Jerry Sullivan, program chairman.

"We must never gamble on the chance that we'll have time to prepare in another war," he emphasized in concluding his talk. "Air power has made it possible for an unprepared nation to be defeated in 24 hours in any future war. We've been unprepared in every one of the seven wars we have fought but we can't let that happen again," he declared.

Brotherton traced the history of aviation in San Diego and listed at least 21 firsts to San Diego's credit in the aviation industry. No less than 42 world's aviation records have been set in San Diego, he reported. The Pacific coast's seven airplane companies are building half of all the fishing pier extending from the foot of Del Monte ave. and that building this year will total 120,000 military planes, he said. Only seven men are needed now to build what it took 70 to build in the same time in 1940, he said. Women form 43% of all the manpower in west coast aviation industry, he added.

Visitors were Maurice Ross of the San Diego Kiwanis club and Fred Lee of San Diego, the latter a guest of Dr. John Wilhoit. Next week's program will feature a movie on the San Fe railway to be shown by a representative of that company. E. W. Montgomery will be program chairman.

LOCAL WOMAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF TURNING IN FALSE FIRE ALARM

One Ocean Beach woman and one Linda Vista woman, employees of a San Diego aircraft company, were arrested by Battalion Chief E. H. Pike Wednesday night for allegedly turning in a malicious false fire alarm at Fourth ave. and A st.

After being booked in the city jail, the women were released on bail of $100 each.

The women said they pulled the fire alarm box when dared by two friends, according to police report. They were apprehended in a car with two men near the box.

CIVIC AFFAIRS GROUP OF KIWANIS PLANNING 'GET-OUT-VOTE' EFFORT

The civic affairs committee of the Kiwanis, consisting of Dr. W. B. Oster, Rollin Reed and Marc Strauss, is planning a "get-out-the-vote" campaign, as a Kiwanis good citizenship program. They expect, one committee member stated Thursday, to distribute tags and stickers with idea of bringing out the maximum vote possible at the Nov. 7 general election. The effort is an entirely non-partisan campaign, he said.

NOEL SWETLAND PLANS TO CONSTRUCT BUSINESS BUILDING ON MIDWAY

Noel Swetland announced this week that he has purchased property 60 by 142 feet adjoining his Posyland at 3120 Midway Drive and plans to start construction of this fall on a business building which he will rent out. The structure planned will be one story, of stucco finish, and will be 50 by 75 feet. Mr. Swetland also plans to remodel his Posyland building, starting in about ten days, and will also re-decorate and re-finish the interior.

Only 5 Lettermen Back for Football At Pt. Loma High

With only five lettermen back for football at Pt. Loma high, Coach Wm. Maxwell is faced with the job of building a 1944 football machine from the ground up. As for candidates, the numbers are plentiful, he says, there being about 90 out for football.

The five are Bill Hamlin, center; Malin Burnham and Morris Correia, guards; Tommy Wilson, backfield; and Bill Foran, a last year's end, who is being shifted to a backfield position. No experienced tackles are available from last year's team, and two places in the backfield will need to be filled with entirely new men, reports the coach. Practice began last week.

First game on the "Pointers" slate is the football carnival to be staged at Balboa stadium Sept. 29 at 8 p.m. Pt. Loma will face Hoover in the first quarter. Regular 1944 schedule consists of the following seven games.

Oct. 6—Hoover, there.
Oct. 13—Grossmont, here.
Oct. 20—La Jolla, there.
Oct. 27—Coronado, here.
Nov. 3—San Diego Hi, there.
Nov. 10—St. Augustine, here.
Nov. 17—Sweetwater, here.

Total of 1660 'A' Books Issued at School Building

A total of 1660 "A" books for ages were issued in the 12 hours registration carried on at the local elementary school building Sept. 7 and 8, reports Miss Phyllis White, who assisted Mrs. Martha McIntosh, school principal, in supervising the registration. Twenty-six other volunteers assisted, and handled the work with precision and dispatch.

Because of the short period of only 10 hours total that the doors were open for registration, long lines formed in front of the building and out on the sidewalk, especially on Friday.

Teachers working on one or the other of the four shifts were as follows:

Adolph Hovde, Miss Anne L. Craig, Mrs. Edith Kirby, Miss Kathryn Knudson, Miss Lois Parsons, Mrs. Daphne Jones, Miss Petrel Hines, Mrs. Eva Schaffer, Mrs. Eleanor Zeitsoff, Harold A. Moody, Richard Muench, Mrs. Abbie Gail Karl, Mrs. Roberta Conner, Miss Leta Ann Lipp, Miss Elizabeth Wilkinson, Ralph Stucki, Mrs. Carmen Sikes, Miss Jeanette van den Akker, Mrs. Marie Krause, Mrs. Doris Storm, Richard B. Ault and Mrs. Sylvia Lochridge.

Other volunteers included Mrs. Sandra Duer, Mrs. Louise Olson, Mrs. Lyne Marshall and Mrs. Jean S. Reid.

THE RED CROSS IN OCEAN BEACH

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Oh, Joy! I know you were all glad to see Richard Langford's picture in last Sunday's paper with the three other boys who were so badly burned. These boys have been pets with the Ocean Beach women. They all ways received cookies when they were able to have them and some very beautiful afghans were sent them. Mrs. McElwee made seven afghans and her first one went to Langford. Mrs. Murgolis made one a cash donation this week for our cookie project. We bought wax paper, stickers, string and napkins to do up our cookies. I find it very hard to get these articles. We need birthday cards for the birthday boxes. This week we had 50 dozen cookies and cupcakes. Ocean Beach women are wonderful.

Don't forget, now is the time to give our boxes of Christmas cards to the boys in the hospitals so they can mail them to all their friends and buddies.

We are making sewing kits out of our leather on hand. Any of you who want leather and to see how they are made, if you will call at 4769 Del Monte, you are welcome to the material. We would like to have enough made so that we can put one in each box.

Leave your cookies at Mrs. Call B-5639 for information.

Recreation Rally To Be Tuesday Sept. 19

Blackouts Can Now Start With Start of Siren

Blackouts can now be put into effect immediately when the proper siren is sounded on order of the military, Harry Masters, deputy commander of the local area for the Civilian Defense, reported this week. He was called into town during the week to two meetings with Civilian Defense officials, at which the area commanders were instructed to inform the public, especially the business men, that should the military now give orders for the blackout siren to sound that the blackout will go into effect at once.

The idea is that the high military officers of the Western Defense Command still recognize the possibility of, and aim to be prepared for, any suicide or nuisance raid that the Japs may decide to try on the Pacific coast. Other Civilian Defense officials from the local area at the meetings were Tom Plant, McKinzie Robinson, Judge Charles DeLong and J. Evans.

Masters presented the matter before both the Kiwanis club and the Chamber of Commerce meetings, held this week. He also announced the Civilian Defense set-up plans to function in peace time in emergencies of possible disaster and riot.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS 14th RELIGIOUS EDUCATION WEEK, SEPT. 24 TO OCT. 1

WHEREAS, The foundations of our City are the character and the spiritual integrity of all its citizens, from the youngest to the oldest; and

WHEREAS, There are many within our boundaries who have had little or no training in these primary foundations of democratic life; and

WHEREAS, America in this hour of destiny must have an abundant reserve of spiritual resources both to win the war and to effect a righteous and lasting peace; and

WHEREAS, Our community must do its share in deepening the religious faith of our people and strengthening our national morality; and

NOW, THEREFORE, as mayor of San Diego, I do hereby set aside the period beginning Sunday, September 24, and continuing through Sunday, October 1, as the Fourteenth Annual Religious Education Week and call upon my fellow citizens to join in its observance in their own homes, in the churches and in other places, engaging in the worship of God and in learning and teaching others His way for men and for nations.

HARLEY E. KNOX, Mayor of San Diego

POLICE ARREST THREE PROWLERS DURING WEEK

Ocean Beach police arrested three alleged prowlers during the past week, on charges of disorderly conduct, two of them in the residence districts. B. T. Bradbury, 22, a sailor, was taken about 1:30 a.m. Sept. 12 on Macaulay st.; James R. Peyton, a marine, at 2:30 a.m. Sept. 9 on Evergreen st. and L. V. Dawson, 25, a sailor, in an upstairs apartment house on Bacon st. at 2:30 a.m. Sept. 11, reports Sgt. R. J. Karrow.

MARC STRAUSS' SISTER DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Marc Strauss was called to Los Angeles this week by the sudden death, Wednesday night, of his sister, Mrs. Jack Richards, who passed away in Wilshire hospital following an emergency operation for a ruptured appendix. Besides her husband and a son, Allan, she leaves two brothers, Marc and Clarence. Mr. and Mrs. Richards formerly lived in Denover, where he was in the hotel business. He is in the same business in Los Angeles.

Frank Billups, 4264 Montalvo st., or at Mrs. H. B. Brewer's, 4721 Voltaire or at 4769 Del Monte ave., Call B-5639 for information.

(By the Committee)
The Recreation rally for all Ocean Beach residents will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 19 at the Ocean Beach elementary school at 7:45, announces James F. Roberts, chairman of the Community Civic committee.

The committee cordially invites all who have made donations to the Recreation center to attend this rally.

The committee is happy to announce that Mayor Harley Knox and the city council have accepted the invitation of the committee to be present at the rally.

Fred Kraft, assemblyman, 78th district, and who has done much to help Ocean Beach have a community center, will also attend.

The City Recreation commission will be present and W. A. "Bud" Kearns, city playground director, will outline future playground plans for Ocean Beach.

A program of melody and mirth has been arranged. Everyone is urged to make a special effort to attend this Recreation rally. It will be an evening of fun and fellowship; an evening of victory for Ocean Beach.

Civilian Defense - - - DISTRICT NO. 7 Bayview 6101

At the recent Central committee meeting held by Mrs. David A. Fraser the need for more people to take the Red Cross home nursing course was brought out by Mrs. Louise Graham, organizer of the Red Cross home nursing classes, due to the fact that a great number of San Diego's doctors have gone to the war zone as well as a number of nurses, and many more doctors and nurses will be needed to take care of the returning casualties. There is always the danger of an epidemic and we should know how to protect our community before an epidemic starts and know how to stop the spread of disease. Figures show that there is but one doctor to every 1400 persons here in San Diego. Phone Bayview 6101 for information regarding the home nursing classes.

J. T. John Patterson of the Wac recruiting division told of the need for more women in the Wacs as the war isn't over. Corp. Hazel Tipton stated that they need 60,000 Wacs for hospital work alone. After a Wac finishes her basic training at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, if she has the qualifications, she can take up physical therapy or go to medical or dental school. This special training will be of great advantage to her when she returns to the civilian world. There are 239 different jobs in the army for Wacs and even after the war, work has to be done in rehabilitation which will take longer than a few months or even a year. Mrs. Fraser asked that block leaders check their blocks again to see if any new eligible women have moved in who may be interested in the Wacs. Age limit is from 20 to 49. Additional information can be had by calling Franklin 1988.

Mrs. Emily Ziegler, member of the staff of Adult Vocational school, gave an outline of the various studies and activities offered for the boys and girls and men and women of San Diego. There is no age limit and most of the courses are free with the exception of a $1 enrollment fee and a small charge for some of the materials used.

Chaplain David A. Sharp jr. of the Naval hospital expressed the appreciation of Capt. Morton Willcutts for the work of the women's division of the Civilian Defense. He stated that the government provides everything that is necessary, but there are always little odds and ends, the niceties of life, that make their stay in the hospital more pleasant and it helps their mental attitude.

Bertha K. Leadbeater.

TRY AT SUICIDE REPORTED

Local police were called to a Chamberlain ct. residence late Monday night to help care for a young woman, who, they were informed, had turned on the gas in a cook stove, with evident suicide attempt. The young woman, whose husband is a marine serving overseas, refused to give any reason for the act.

Allies Drive on German Border; Expand Navy by 65,000 Ships; August Beef Output Hits Peak

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Seated on ground at Hotel Majestic following their capture by Free French forces in liberation of Paris, high-ranking German officers await removal to prison quarters.

EUROPE: Nazi Losses

Having suffered losses of 400,000 men since D-day, and with its power in France broken, the once proud German army reeled back toward the Siegfried line guarding the reich's border, there to hole up for a final stand.

Although the bulk of the German armies escaped annihilation in both the north and south, swift moving Allied armor hacked enemy rear-guard to shreds, and U. S. and British planes swarming over the battlefields took a heavy toll of men and equipment in the retreating columns.

As the British and Canadians drove up along the Channel coast, they overran many of the enemy's robot-bomb installations, but the continuance of attacks on southeast England with the flying missiles indicated that the Germans moved their dispatching ramps farther inland.

Illustrating the vast scope of Allied operations in France since D-day, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower reported that we had lost 3,000 planes ourselves, required more than 900 tanks for replacements in the first 70 days of fighting, dropped more than 55,000 tons of bombs and used 44,000,000 gallons of aviation gas. As the battle tempo heightens, and supply lines lengthen, there is also need for more trucks and tires, "like" declared.

Deep in Balkans

Rolling on American wheels, the surging Russian army pushed through Rumania and pointed spearheads at Hungary to the northwest where Marshal Josip Tito's rugged Partisans have been waging relentless guerrilla warfare against the Axis occupational forces.

As the Russian drive carried deep into the heart of the Balkans, Red forces in northern Poland stepped up their pressure against reinforced Nazi troops battling grimly to stave off the capture of Warsaw.

In their developing Rumanian offensive, the Russians sought to exploit an early break into the Carpathian mountains guarding Hungary, where Adolf Hitler desperately sought to keep that country in the war by agreeing to rush reinforcements to bolster its tottering eastern defenses. By rolling through Bucharest to the southwest, the Reds also had the choice of driving forward for a junction with Tito's Partisans and endangering the entire Nazi hold on the southern Balkans.

BEEF:

Cheap Grades Abound

Reflecting the heavy run of grass-fed cattle, August beef production in federally inspected plants reached the all-time record output for that month of 600,000,000 pounds, and 21 per cent higher than the same period last year.

Meanwhile, August pork production was 19 per cent under August of last year, reflecting continued short receipts in the markets, which were expected to prevail until October when the spring crop is moved to slaughter.

As a result of the heavy grass-fed marketings, ample supplies of lean, pointless utility beef will be available to consumers, but the government's recent order to packers to set aside 50 per cent of their higher grades for military and lend-lease account, will decrease the supply of the choicer roasts and steaks.

INCOME TAX: New Returns

Thirty million taxpayers earning under $5,000 per year no longer face the ordeal of filling out a complicated income tax form under a new system of the treasury.

Uncle Sam himself will undertake to figure out the taxpayer's liability next year after he has filed a withholding receipt furnished by his employer showing income and pay-as-you-go deductions with space for listing exemptions.

In figuring out the taxpayer's liability, Uncle Sam will allow 10 per cent for charitable contributions, interest, medical expenses, etc., and anyone claiming larger credits for these items will have to file a 1040 form.

U. S. NAVY: Rapid Buildup

Reflecting the American genius for mobilizing the country's tremendous resources, Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal revealed that U. S. naval strength had increased by 65,000 vessels since the outbreak of war in 1939, and personnel had been expanded from 152,086 men to 3,717,000. Of the 65,000 vessels, 1,150 were major fighting ships.

At the same time, Forrestal divulged that the navy's air strength had been increased by 57,600 planes since 1939, 20 times more than before the war.

In addition to being built up into the greatest fighting force afloat, the navy lend-leased 5 billion dollars of ships, materials and services to the Allies, Forrestal said, with the British receiving 92 per cent of the aid.

PACIFIC:

Subs Boost Bag

While U. S. army and navy planes pounded the Japanese Pacific outposts preparatory to further strides along the stepping-stones to the Asiatic mainland, American submarine forces continued their deadly warfare against enemy shipping.

In latest operations in far Pacific waters, U. S. subs were credited with bagging 17 vessels, including two destroyers, to bring the total number sunk or damaged to 875 since Pearl Harbor.

Operating from advance bases, U. S. bombers hammered Halmahera, strategic gateway to the Philippines, and also hit the enemy's supply lines in neighboring waters.

WAGES:

Top Levels

With employment 28 per cent over January, 1941, weekly and hourly earnings in 25 manufacturing industries rose to record levels for June.

As a result of the payment of higher wages to obtain help in the flourishing labor market, and overtime to meet war demands, workers' weekly earnings averaged $49.22 for the month, 60 per cent over January, 1941, while hourly pay totaled $1.06, a rise of 40 per cent over three and a half years ago.

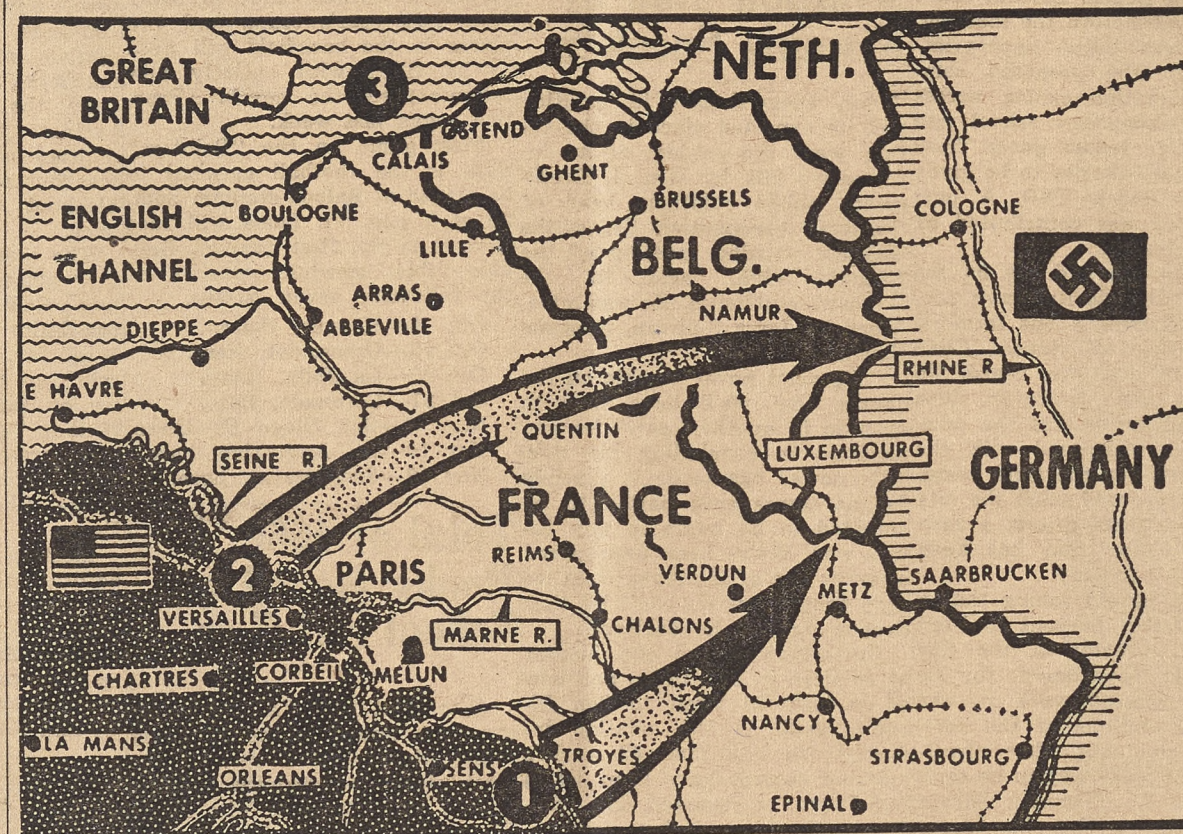

Because of a slight dip in living costs for the month, "real earnings"—or income in relation to the price of goods—increased almost 2 per cent over May.

The Liberating Yanks Again Enter Paris

Just as in 1919, when Gen. John J. Pershing led the victory parade past the Arc de Triomphe on Bastille Day, a new generation of Yanks have entered the city of Paris. Behind General Pershing is 1st Lieut. W. J. Cunningham, bearing the General's standard, followed by Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, chief of staff, A. E. F., and on the grey horse, Gen. George C. Marshall, present chief of staff, who was then Colonel Marshall, aide to General Pershing. Insert shows the first U. S. flag brought into Paris by the liberating Yanks in World War II. The U. S. troops carried the flag through the streets.

Allies Passing World War I Old Battlefields

Map showing general direction of the twin drives of the U. S. Third Army toward German territory. The arrows drive through the battlefields of World War I, where the fathers of present-day doughboys wrote a brilliant page of American military history. The column driving from Troyes (1) is believed to be headed for Luxembourg. The push that drove across the Marne from the Seine (2) might yet spring a surprise and flank the rocket coast (3) from which the Germans launch their robots. Except in case of complete collapse, the going is expected to become tougher as Allies enter German territory.

Truk Remains a Tough Target

Truk atoll still remains a formidable Jap central Pacific bastion. This photo was taken from one of the Seventh AAF Liberators attacking the air bases on Eten, Param and Moen, and the naval and seaplane bases on Dublon island. The 25 miles of bomb-run over Truk is one of the most hazardous of any in the Central Pacific.

After a Robot Bomb Struck

Air raid wardens and volunteers bring out casualties from the ruins of a block of flats struck by a German robot bomb in South England. Part of the building is still blazing in background. Recent figures released said that 17,000 homes are destroyed every 24 hours by the flying bombs. The total number of casualties caused by robots is not given.

Raising Old Glory

The muzzle of a German gun makes an ideal socket for the flag staff as American soldiers raise "Old Glory" over the battered citadel of St. Malo. It was here that the German "Mad Colonel" held out for 11 days after St. Malo fell.

Shy Guam Natives

A bare-footed old lady peeks over the shoulders of other Chamorro natives on Guam after the U. S. Marines took over most of the island and the natives joined the Yanks.

Training Fatalities

Most recent army statistics indicate that the fatal accident rate is only one for every 43,478 hours of primary flight. On the basis of 100 miles per hour that is only one for 4,347,800 miles! The record for basic and advanced training likewise is remarkably safe. As a matter of fact, one large A.T.S. school doing primary flight training has flown over 395,000 hours without a single fatality.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

RICH DIET FOR ARCTIC: A series of tests conducted at the U. of Illinois indicates that the best diet for high flying aviators and soldiers stationed in arctic regions is one rich in starch, sugar and fat. These three food essentials were found to minimize the drop in internal and surface body temperatures, and to reduce the effect of cold on the coordinating of the muscles.

ALUMINUM MATS: Landing mats made of aluminum are thoroughly satisfactory, the army air force reveals, after a number of tests. Previously steel had been used for this purpose, but when the mat sections have to be transported by air, aluminum, which weighs less than half as much as steel is more satisfactory. The aluminum sections can be laid faster.

With Ernie Pyle at the Front:

Hysterical Crowd Welcomes Return of Liberating Yanks

Parisians Well Fed and Clothed And City in Excellent Condition

By Ernie Pyle

PARIS—I had thought that for me there could never again be any elation in war. But I had reckoned without the liberation of Paris—I had reckoned without remembering that I might be a part of this richly historic day.

We are in Paris—on the first day—one of the great days of all time. This is being written, as other correspondents are writing their pieces, under an emotional tension, a pent-up semi-delirium.

Our approach to Paris was hectic. We had waited for three days in a near by town while hourly reports on what was going on in Paris changed and contradicted themselves.

parts of the city. By afternoon it would seem the enemy had been reinforced until another Stalingrad was developing. We could not bear to think of the destruction of Paris, and yet at times it seemed desperately inevitable.

That was the situation this morning when we left Rambouillet and decided to feel our way timidly toward the very outskirts of Paris. And then, when we were within about eight miles, rumors began to circulate that the French Second Armored division was in the city. We argued for half an hour at a crossroads with a French captain who was holding us up, and finally he freed us and waved us on.

For 15 minutes we drove through a flat gardenlike country under a magnificent bright sun amidst greenery, with distant bands of smoke pillaring the horizon ahead and to our left. And then we came gradually into the suburbs, and soon into Paris itself and a pandemonium of surely the greatest mass joy that has ever happened.

The streets were lined as by Fourth of July parade crowds at home, only this crowd was almost hysterical. The streets of Paris are very wide, and they were packed on each side. The women were all brightly dressed in white or red blouses and colorful peasant skirts, with flowers in their hair and big flashy earrings. Everybody was throwing flowers, and even serpentine.

As our jeep eased through the crowds, thousands of people crowded up, leaving only a narrow corridor, and frantic men, women and children grabbed us and kissed us and shook our hands and beat on our shoulders and slapped our backs and shouted their joy as we passed.

I was in a jeep with Henry Gorrell of the United Press, Capt. Carl Pergler of Washington, D. C., and Corp. Alexander Belon, of Amherst, Mass. We all got kissed until we were literally red in the face, and I must say we enjoyed it.

Once when the jeep was simply swamped in human traffic and had to stop, we were swarmed over and hugged and kissed and torn at. Everybody, even beautiful girls, insisted on kissing you on both cheeks. Somehow I got started kissing babies that were held up by their parents, and for a while it looked like a baby-kissing politician going down the street. The fact that I hadn't shaved for days, and was gray-bearded as well as baldheaded, made no difference. Once when we came to a stop some Frenchman told us there were still snipers shooting, so we put our steel helmets back on.

The people certainly looked well fed and well dressed. The streets were lined with green trees and modern buildings. All the stores were closed in holiday. Bicycles were so thick I have an idea there were plenty of accidents that day, with tanks and jeeps overrunning the populace.

We entered Paris via Rue Aristide, Briand and Rue d'Orleans. We were slightly apprehensive, but decided it was all right to keep going as long as there were crowds. But finally we were stymied by the people in the streets, and then above the din we heard some not-too-distant explosions—the Germans trying to destroy bridges across the Seine. And then the rattling of machine guns up the street, and that old battle-field whine of high-velocity shells just overhead. Some of us veterans ducked, but the Parisians just laughed and continued to carry on.

There came running over to our jeep a tall, thin, happy woman in a light brown dress, who spoke perfect American.

She was Mrs. Helen Cardon, who lived in Paris for 21 years and has not been home to America since 1935. Her husband is an officer in French army headquarters and home now after 2½ years as a German prisoner. He was with her, in civilian clothes.

Mrs. Cardon has a sister, Mrs. George Swikart, of New York city, and I can say here to her relatives in America that she is well and happy. Incidentally, her two children, Edgar and Peter, are the only two American children, she says, who have been in Paris throughout the entire war.

We entered Paris from due south and the Germans were still battling in the heart of the city along the Seine when we arrived, but they were doomed. There was a full French armored division in the city, plus American troops entering constantly.

The farthest we got in our first hour in Paris was near the senate building, where some Germans were holed up and firing desperately. So we took a hotel room near by and decided to write while the others fought. By the time you read this I'm sure Paris will once again be free for Frenchmen, and I'll be out all over town getting my bald head kissed. Of all the days of national joy I've ever witnessed this is the biggest.

The other correspondents have written so thoroughly and so well about the fantastic eruption of mass joy when Paris was liberated that I shall not dwell on it much longer.

But there are some little things I have to get out of my system, so we'll have at least this one more column on it.

Actually the thing has floored most of us. I know that I have felt totally incapable of reporting it to you. It was so big I felt inadequate to touch it. I didn't know where to start or what to say. The words you put down about it sound feeble to the point of asininity.

I'm not alone in this feeling, for I've heard a dozen other correspondents say the same thing. A good many of us feel we have failed in properly presenting the loveliest, brightest story of our time. It could be that this is because we have been so unused, for so long, to anything bright.

At any rate let's go back to the demonstration. From 2 o'clock in the afternoon until darkness around 10, we few Americans in Paris on that first day were kissed and hailed and mauled by friendly mobs until we hardly knew where we were.

Everybody kissed you—little children, old women, grown-up men, beautiful girls. They jumped and squealed and pushed in a literal frenzy.

They pinned bright little flags and badges all over you. Amateur cameramen took pictures. They tossed flowers and friendly tomatoes into your jeep. One little girl even threw a bottle of cider into ours.

As you drove along, gigantic masses of waving and screaming humanity clapped their hands as though applauding a fine performance in a theater. We in the jeeps smiled back until we had set grins on our faces. We waved until our arms gave out, and then we just wagged our fingers. We shook hands until our hands were bruised and scratched. If the jeep stopped, you were swamped instantly. Those who couldn't reach you threw kisses at you, and we threw kisses back.

They sang songs. They sang wonderful French songs we had never heard. And they sang "Tipperary" and "Madelon" and "Over There" and the "Marseillaise."

French policemen saluted formally but smilingly as we passed. The French tanks that went in ahead of us pulled over to the sidewalks and were immediately swarmed over.

Paris Girls Have Beauty and Imagination

Paris seems to have all the beautiful girls we have always heard it had. The women have an art of getting themselves up fascinatingly. Their hair is done crazily, their clothes are worn imaginatively. They dress in riotous colors in this lovely warm season, and when the flag-draped holiday streets are packed with Parisians the color makes everything else in the world seem gray. As one soldier remarked, the biggest thrill in getting to Paris is to see people in bright summer clothes again.

Like any city, Paris has its quota of dirty and ugly people. But dirty and ugly people have emotions too, and Hank Gorrell got roundly kissed by one of the dirtiest and ugliest women I have ever seen.

Imperial Hopes May Linger But Where Will Nazis Flee?

Spirit May Be Nurtured in Foreign Haven to Break Forth Again; Few Countries Willing to Offer Foe Refuge.

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

Returning to the capital after a week in the wilds while Hitler's mad dream of empire was melting, it is hard to adjust the ear, caressed by the whisper of mountain brooks and sighs of the wind in the pines, to the staccato click of the news-ticker.

Nature's sounds are organ-sounds, rising, falling, not sharp and metallic—even the crack of the lightning merges into its obligato of thunder. Today as I pulled the first sheet of text from the teletype with its continuously exciting recital of the end of an epoch—it occurred to me that of epochs, like the manifestations of nature, have no sudden ends, they may seem to disappear like a river which plunges under ground. But they are bound to appear again.

Today we have evidence that the two forces which have sprung from two opposing elements in Germany, as I reported in an earlier column, are attempting like the lost rivers to seek a course below the surface. The Prussian military caste, purged as it has been and soon doubtless to be stripped of its one source of income, the great estates of East and West Prussia, will surely try to continue its existence in refugee colonies. This is not a new phenomenon. The followers of de-throned kings have done this in the past.

Where and how will this group seek to keep alive the will to achieve such a goal? Time is not the essence of what they believe to be their contract with destiny. They can wait generations, centuries. All they need is space, space in which, undisturbed, they can propagate their kind and their faith.

And as the thinned ranks of German Junkerdom (only a tiny percentage of the German people) desperately plan their future an even more desperate group, at the other end of the social spectrum, plans theirs. The Nazis have demonstrated that it was not Germany as a nation or Germans as a people in whom they were interested, but both as a means to the creation of a great, brutal, sweeping movement—followers of an idol and an ideology.

The fanatical Nazi spirit will try to hide and live and rise again.

Where, in all the world, can these two movements find asylum? Not in Germany's neighbor states where hatreds have been sown which will take a century to cure. It is highly probable that the republican elements in Spain will gain the ascendancy and give short shrift to the former friends of Franco. Sweden surely, having maintained neutrality in this war, is too wise to harbor either group. Turkey perhaps.

Where else might a German go and face least resentment? It is natural to answer with the name of the nation which was least willing to join in a solid anti-Axis combine—Argentina.

Foreign Spirits Grow In Latin Instability

"It is a mystery to me," said a man who has spent many years in Latin America, "how Vargas (president of Brazil) or anyone else could keep the elements in the south satisfied as long as he has."

"Of course it has been done," he went on, "the nation has been held together by a dictatorship and because the money has been pouring in from the United States."

"When it is the ambition of most Brazilians to get a government job, and 60 per cent at a time manage to do it, it's natural you have to change governments pretty often to give the other 40 per cent a chance."

Of course this cynical comment must be taken with a grain of salt. But there is some truth in the allegation.

One of the things which kept the Third Republic of France together as long as it was, was the method of giving out government jobs which worked for stability and continuity.

The person who had the right to sell a certain amount of tobacco was not permitted to use a shop or resturant which he himself ran, in which to sell it. So he had to give a cut to the cafe-owner where the goods were sold. The cafe-owner could not employ any one of his own family to handle the sales—there were other complicated regulations the result of which was that three or four families were benefitting by the single government license.

Of course it is not the quality of instability of Latin-American governments in itself which disrupts our statesmen, but the fact that such instability makes foreign influence easier to achieve. We know what a foothold Germany had obtained in South America, and maps have been discovered showing the territory Hitler expected to control which placed all of South America up to and into southern Brazil under German domination.

The power of Argentinian influence on the other South American countries was strikingly revealed in the recent move which caused the resignation of Foreign Minister Aranha of Brazil as a protest against his pro-United States policy.

Enemy Broadcasters Without a Country

The time grows shorter until Lord Hawhaw, Mr. Kaltenbach, Mr. Best, Miss Drexel, et al, take their places at the microphones of the Berlin radio to spread their futile propaganda over the ether for the last time.

Here are three reminiscences:

When I was broadcasting from Berlin for the NBC at the beginning of the war in 1939, there was only one of the staff of the German broadcasting station there who was provocatively Nazi. He was a tall, handsome blond, much given to riding boots and golf clubs. He had studied in England and his English seemed perfect to me. He was an announcer who read the news beamed on England.

Then came the British declaration of war against Germany. There was naturally considerable excitement in the studio. It was not until I was going home that I missed my blond friend. No one seemed to know where he was.

Then I heard the story. It seemed that when war was declared all enemy aliens were interned. The Gestapo, much to the surprise of his colleagues, picked up my blond anglophobe, explaining they had known all along that he was a British agent.

Later he was brought back and forced to continue reading news bulletins in English.

Number two in my gallery I never saw—he is the man—Best—who mouths Nazi platitudes in a southern accent. But I understand the accent is all that is left of the man—he is—or was an American newspaperman who got into one of those European social impasses. A woman, of course, and an older and more determined one. He finally found his escape in drugs. That was an easy case for the Nazis.

Now we come to exhibit number three: Constance Drexel.

That name will be remembered by magazine and newspaper readers of some two decades ago. It is a pseudonym chosen because, I imagine, her real one would not have sounded as pleasant in Philadelphia where she worked on a newspaper.

She had interviewed the Queen of Spain and other notables in her day (that dates her), but had started going to seed when she called on me hoping for an assignment from the syndicate for which I worked in the middle '20s. She still had some of her youthful good looks and knew how to make the most of them.

The next time I ran across her was in the Potsdammer station in Berlin, shortly after the war started. I was returning from Switzerland and my office had told me Constance Drexel would appear on one of my periods and I was to edit her script. She showed it to me as we rode to my hotel. I read it. It was innocuous.

She looked no younger but better fed. Said she was in Europe doing some syndicate articles. She made a broadcast which I did not hear and I never saw her again—never heard of her until I had returned to America and caught a broadcast of hers over the shortwave from Berlin extolling the virtues of Nazism.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

A national campaign is underway to get employed high school students to go back to school.

There were 4,756 convictions for violation of the selective service act in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1944. There have been a total of 10,872 such convictions since the draft law went into effect in October, 1940.

The army buys enough baseball equipment every year to outfit 50,000 baseball teams and 100,000 softball teams; the navy enough for more than 11,000 baseball teams and 22,000 softball teams.

Christmas mail month for all service personnel overseas will be the 30-day period between September 15 and October 15.

That Old Chair Can Easily Be Reclaimed

NEW cane seats are expensive because the work is done by hand. Endless time is required also for scraping off layers of paint to get down to the grain of the wood in doing over many pieces of furniture. The chair shown here did not seem to be worth this labor. It was reclaimed with a seat from a scrap of plywood, blue paint and seat cover of blue and white ticking edged with white material raveled to make narrow fringe.

The chipped white enamel that was on the chair was rubbed with coarse and then with fine sandpaper until smooth. The new seat came next; then flat paint which was allowed to dry 24 hours before applying enamel. Next, the seat cover was made with a straight band around the front and across the back terminating in ties at the back corners.

NOTE—This chair remodeling idea is from BOOK 10 which also contains directions for making an adorable padded boudoir chair from an old kitchen chair, a high-back chair from an old rocker and an attractive upholstered chair from odds and ends of wood, a little padding and some chintz. Firestone
GROUND GRIP TIRES
Give EXTRA TRACTION because THEY CLEAN BETTER!

HAVE you been hearing or reading claims about tractor tire cleaning lately? As a farmer, you are entitled to know the facts. And here they are:

Remember that the Firestone Ground Grip Tread is patented. Its extra-long, triple-braced traction bars do not have "broken center" traction leaks, no trash-catching stubs or buttons. The wide spaces between the bars clean easily, even in soft soil, because there are no corners or pockets for mud to stick or hide. No wonder Firestone Ground Grips clean so much better in ALL soil conditions!

And don't forget that Firestone Ground Grip Tires give you up to 215 extra inches of traction bar length per tractor. That means extra pulling power—and the more pulling power you get, the more time and money you save!

From these facts, it's easy to see why more farm tractors are equipped with Firestone Ground Grip Tires than with any other make. Farmers naturally want the tires that pull better longer—the tires made by Firestone, the pioneer and pacemaker.

Listen to the Voice of Firestone every Monday evening, over N.B.C.

INVEST IN WAR BONDS AND HOLD THEM UNTIL MATURITY

there are no more rabbits in this hat!

Normally, we have reserve facilities in our hat. But since National Defense got under way in 1940, the Army, Navy and public have been supplied with these reserves—including a net increase of more than 4½ million Bell System telephones.

The hat's about empty now. No magic wand—only final victory—can bring back the materials we need to give service to every one who wants it. That's why there may be a delay in moving service and there probably will be a delay in establishing new service.

In the meantime, we're doing everything we can to stretch our facilities so they'll serve as many people as possible.

We're loading switchboards to the limit. Repairing and putting to work every telephone facility we can lay our hands on. Using whatever we have where it will do the most good.

Ingenuity on our part and co-operation on your part will help to take care of the telephone waiting list sooner.

If you are one of those who are waiting, we'd like you to know we will take care of your needs at the earliest possible moment.

SAFETY'S TEN COMMANDMENTS

With California's hundreds of thousands of children once more making their daily trek schoolward, motorists should remember that the signs reading "Slow—School!" are to be heeded—diligently!

It should also be remembered by the person behind the wheel that youngsters, in spite of numerous warnings, often dash out into the street heedless of the traffic. At other times their childish impulses cause them to act indifferently about getting out of the way of oncoming cars.

However annoying this latter attitude may be to the driver, he should not assume that it is "up to the kids to get out of the way"—and keep his foot on the gas pedal. The driver, being more mature, must bear the greater share of responsibility for the safety of children on the streets.

But children can do much to protect themselves by following the "Ten Commandments" of Safety:

1. Start to school early enough so you won't have to rush.
2. Plan the safest trip to and from school—take it every day.
3. Always cross streets at the crossing.
4. Never try to out-run an automobile when crossing a street.
5. Look in both directions before crossing and keep alert until the sidewalk is reached.
6. Obey the traffic officer or safety-patrol boy.
7. Don't dart out into the street from behind parked cars or hedges.
8. Don't linger or play in the streets; use playgrounds, vacant lots, and sidewalks.
9. Ride bicycles on the right side of streets and obey all traffic signs.
10. On highways, always walk on the left side of the road.

MR. WINKLE GOES TO WAR

By THEODORE

W.N.U. RELEASE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Forty-four-year-old Wilbert Winkle, who operates a repair shop in the alley back of his home, is notified by his draft board that he is in I-A. He breaks the bad news to Amy, his dominating wife, who becomes suddenly tender. Mr. Winkle is sent to Camp Squibb, a thousand miles from home. After graduating from Motor Mechanics school, Mr. Winkle goes home on a furlough. Amy hardly knows him, and his dog, Penelope, barks at him furiously. After returning to camp Mr. Winkle and his friend, Mr. Tinker, are sent to a point of embarkation. Soon they find themselves on the high seas, in a big convoy. They meet some of their friends aboard and are encouraged.

CHAPTER XI

At lunch time they were at last told where they were going. Nothing was said about the main convoy. From the beginning it had been planned to send them to the island of Talizo, one of the steppingstones in the retrieving of certain precious stones stolen by the Japanese when no one was looking.

The south end of the fifty-mile-long island had been captured by American forces, along with an airfield conveniently just completed by the Japs, who still held the northern half of Talizo. They would land some time the next morning.

Mr. Winkle searched in his guidebook for the entry under Talizo. To his satisfaction he found that the island had cannibals. It was, in fact, noted for them.

Late that afternoon a collection of dark dots came out of the sinking sun ahead of them. The gun crews of their own and the other ships sprang to their stations, alert and tense. But soon word was passed about that these were their own planes, come to protect them in that most dangerous of all times, dusk on the sea.

No enemy, from under, on, or over the sea appeared either that night or at dawn when the planes returned to take up their vigil and escort the convoy to port.

Land now made out boldly, was seen to be a low-lying shore reaching up abruptly to a towering volcanic mountain ridge running along the far side of Talizo. It was a scene of such beauty as to be very nearly unreal. As they approached closer, here and there the white wisp of a waterfall could be seen throwing itself down from the mountain jungles and disappearing into the thick green growth below.

That war and the killing and maiming of men could exist on this peaceful looking island did not seem credible.

Looking at it, all you wanted to do was to land here, among the palm trees on the white sandy shore and spend the rest of your life.

Mr. Winkle and his several thousand companions gazed at it with awe and wonderment. The island was almost the thing for which Mr. Winkle searched, and he wondered if he would find it here.

Mr. Winkle's impression of landing was not one of danger, but of fascination.

Their troopship was the first vessel through the mine field and the opening made by a small tug drawing back the boom of the submarine net. Almost before the anchor was down in the harbor, landing nets were being thrown over the sides of the ship and boats lowered.

They climbed down, packing themselves in the lifeboats. Three of these, tied together, were pulled by a launch to one of the piers. The men stared at a half-sunken supply ship they passed. Some of them identified shore batteries placed on either point of the harbor.

It was hot on land after the sea as they marched through town. Passing by the thatched huts, they saw that most of them were vacant. Only here and there were they occupied by brown-skinned people whose large dark eyes gazed at them apathetically. A few of them were girls clad in a simple garment of printed cloth which left one shoulder bare and outlined the rest of their slim bodies to their knees.

"Whadda you know?" breathed Mr. Tinker. "Whadda you know?"

"Now, now," cautioned Mr. Winkle. "We're here to protect them, that's all."

"Sure," said Mr. Tinker. "Sure." He twisted his head, to keep in sight as long as he could what he looked forward to protecting.

On the far side of the village the jungle began, a monstrous growth of palms, lianas, bushes, vivid flowers, breadfruit trees, and banana plants. Into this they marched along a narrow white shell road that threw up heat in nearly suffocating waves. They began to sweat.

They came to a tent so cleverly camouflaged that they failed to make it all out at once. It was painted the exact color of the vegetation. Limbs of trees grew over its roof. Nets, to which branches were attached and sprayed a permanent green, covered it in other places.

The jungle was honeycombed with such tents, some of them small, some of them large enough to house a small circus. Again Mr. Winkle felt safe. He told himself nothing could happen to him in such a hidden installation. He had half-expected to make a landing amidst a hail of bullets and exploding bombs.

At their first meal in the mess tent they tasted new foods, potato-like taro, papaya, and wild chicken. Mr. Tinker spat most of them out and took to what he called civilized dishes also provided. Mr. Winkle swallowed them, if not with relish, at least with pleasure in their proving how definitely he was on a tropic island.

The newcomers were asked such a barrage of questions that they had little chance to put any of their own. The few they managed to get in were mostly answered with a lifting of the shoulders. One man jerked his thumb toward the north and said, "We're just sitting each other out."

The Messrs. Winkle and Tinker reported to one of the shops, where Mr. Tinker was open-mouthed at the equipment and Mr. Winkle was impressed.

Trucks, reconnaissance and command cars, and jeeps and peeps were driven into spacious tents which held as complete equipment as to be found at home. The canvas sides were rolled up for ventilation, giving them a pleasant air of being outdoors. The familiar smell of oiled machinery and carbon monoxide fumes reached their nostrils. These perfumes were more heartening than the sweet, curious odors of the jungle with which they competed.

Men like themselves, trained as they had been, following the same procedures, labored over the vehicles, one of which had its entire rear end missing as if it had been torn off with a violent hand. The men looked up, gazing idly, curiously, or with interest at the newcomers. Only once did they pause in their quick, deft attentions to the motors. A radio, abruptly turned on, buzzed and crackled for a moment, and then from it came the clear, assured announcement: "This is the United States of America."

The men went still for an instant, taking it in. They glanced at each other and some of them smiled briefly, almost shyly. As the short-wave program went on, giving the news from home, they returned to work with an added zest.

Mr. Winkle couldn't suppress a tingle that went through him and a choking in his throat. It quieted the queasy feeling in his stomach. It made him know that the jungle of Talizo, at least this part of it and more to come, was the U. S. A.

When a mail went out, Mr. Winkle was allowed to write only the barest information to Amy. He refrained from saying much for the double reason of living up to the censorship regulations and not caring to frighten her. He omitted certain things he discovered in his paradise, such as malaria, dysentery, white ants with a pincers attack worse than any war maneuver ever conceived, and mosquitoes so profuse that a net over the bed served only to trap them inside where they could concentrate their attack.

It must, he thought, be enough of a strain for Amy not even to know where he was beyond the fact that he was in the South Seas area. He kept to the cheery things, such as the taste of roasted wild pig, and the crawfish, shrimp, and prawns. He described the flowers, and dwelt on the hibiscus, which he thought went better with the tropics than anything else. He told her about the parrots and cockatoos of the jungle, and how the air was filled with the color of flashing wings.

He said there were no cannibals about just then, but he hoped eventually to see one. He described war as being nothing at all like what he had expected, and assured her that he would be back some day. "No Jap bullet has my name on it," he wrote.

He pondered on whether or not he should leave this in. It was boasting a little, for he had yet to hear a shot fired on either side. In the end he let the statement go, deciding it was reassuring more than anything else. And he didn't want to give her the impression that he really wasn't in the war.

Mr. Tinker was in it so little that he didn't think much of Talizo as a battleground. When a truck was brought in with a few bullet holes through its body, it was a matter of some curiosity. And the bullets had been fired so far away that the actual fighting seemed remote and unreal.

They saw nothing of the enemy and heard nothing of him. There were so few evidences of his existence that they were hardly worth while. Even the two cots in their tent hadn't been vacated by dead men, but by men who had contracted tropic fever and been sent home. The native girls ran when Mr. Tinker made approaches; they didn't trust any human being in a soldier's uniform.

All in all, Mr. Tinker was very much disgusted. He said he might as well be home working at his plumbing, and he told Mr. Winkle he might as well be home in his shop.

Mr. Winkle, on the other hand, could not conceal from himself the fact that he was pleased. He breathed easier, thinking that if this was all there was to it, it wasn't so bad. To the north, he knew, lay the airfield and the main part of the American forces of occupation. And farther on there was jungle fighting where men stalked each other through the undergrowth and sniped from the trees. But this was not his business, and he came into contact with none of those whose affair it was.

Mr. Tinker hoped to be sent north on some mission. "It's the only way I can see for me to get me my Jap," he said.

Mr. Winkle didn't understand how he could expect this. "You'd be on other duty," he pointed out.

"Not all the time I won't," Mr. Tinker said. "You wouldn't tell anybody," he pleaded, "if I went off for a while, would you, Pop?" "You won't do any such thing," Mr. Winkle scolded.

Mr. Tinker remained silent, looking glum but determined.

Mr. Tinker had only contempt for the south tip of the island, to which he and Mr. Winkle were sent several times to rescue vehicles in difficulties. He could hope to find no Japs there. The shore was lined with American machine-gun fox holes, and it was here that the Alphabet, to his chagrin, was stationed.

Sergeant Czeideskrowski and his crew, including Freddie and Jack, agreed with Mr. Tinker about their part in the war. Nothing, they felt, would happen in the portion given to them. They had come thousands of miles to sit and watch and wait for action that would never materialize.

They — with Mr. Winkle — overlooked the fact that when you are in a war you are in a war.

Awakened early one morning, Mr. Winkle and Mr. Tinker were told to report to the orderly tent on the double-quick. Their Commanding Officer looked grim when he told them:

"Hop in a jeep and get down to Post Number Nine. Repair a com-

Mr. Winkle was allowed to write only the barest information to Amy.

mand car you'll find there and bring it back. Don't waste any time. There's mist off the shore. Anything can come out of it."

Mr. Winkle's heart leaped as he saluted with Mr. Tinker and hurried out.

"Something," said Mr. Tinker, "is up."

Mr. Winkle was very much afraid that this might be so. "Nine," he said. "That's the Alphabet."

At the motor park tent they found the men on duty there had the same tense attitude. "You'd better take some extra cartridge clips," they were told. These were given to them.

They drove out. Mr. Winkle didn't like the extra cartridge clips, but he did feel better to have rifles slung alongside the bouncing car.

When they reached the road running south along the shore, they saw the mist. Between hillsides of the beach ridge they could make it out standing like a wall several hundred yards offshore, mysterious, dangerous, unreasonable.

It made Mr. Tinker enthusiastic. "The Japs know we're about ready to push them in the face in the north," he held. "Mebbe they'll take this chance."

Lunch Boxes Can Be Versatile (See Recipes Below)

Lunch Box Tips

Vacation times are over! Invigorated by fresh air and tanned by the sun, children, office workers and defense plant employees are returning to their various duties.

It's important that a healthful schedule be followed after returning to work so that the benefits of vacations are not despoiled immediately.

That means, for one thing, a sensible lunch to carry both children and adults energetically through the day.

Lunches, whether they're eaten in the quiet of home, at the school desk or in a plant cafeteria, should contain a third of the day's food and nutritional requirements. Here's the plan:

2 or more good sandwiches
1/2 to 1 pint of milk
Salad or stuffed eggs, carrot strips or celery
Dessert—pudding, cake or sweet
Surprises—dates, nuts, candy, etc.

Before we get into suggestions to amplify the plan, let's first set up a list of equipment which is good to have on hand for the makings of lunch. When the lunch is an everyday matter, and there are more than one to make, perhaps, it's a good idea to get a corner of the cupboard with equipment ready so as to save time in making.

A bread board with a sharp knife for cutting bread, and another knife or spatula to make the spreading of butter and fillings easy is a must. Then you need waxed paper for wrapping, string or rubber bands for tying in some cases, paper napkins, paper cups or jelly glasses with tightly fitting covers for salads, puddings, etc., straws for drinking, forks and spoons, individual salt and pepper cellars to tuck in the lunch box itself.

In a corner of the refrigerator itself, you can keep butter for spreading (to be taken out night before so as to be soft for spreading in the morning), fruits and vegetables, salads, puddings, and jars of sandwich filling. This latter can be made at any time during the day and stored for use. Make enough to last for several days.

Now, we're ready for the business of the lunch itself. Sandwiches are first on the list. Everyone knows how to make sandwiches, but are they the kind you like to eat? Use this score card for them:

1. Is the bread fresh and moist?
2. Is there a variety of bread from day to day?
3. Is the filling palatable and Cooking Quickies: Whipping cream won't whip? Pour it into a bowl and set in another bowl filled with cracked ice. Then beat and watch it whip.

Use liquid from canned or cooked vegetables with which to flavor soups, gravies and casseroles.

Make one crust pies instead of two crust ones. It saves time and pastry.

Save dabs of butter from butter plates. Use them for flavoring vegetables in cooking. Don't over-buy because foods are a bargain. Buy only those you can use.

Grind bits of leftover meat, mix with softened butter or mayonnaise, pickle relish, celery and a dash of catsup. Store in jars and set in refrigerator until sandwich time.

- moist, with peak flavor?
4. Is the filling spread out to the sides of the bread?
5. Is the sandwich well wrapped so that it is not messy and dried out by the time lunch time comes?
6. Is the filling varied from time to time?

Here is a good, home-made bread to keep on your list when you are using a lot for sandwiches:

Partial Whole Wheat Bread.

- 1/2 cup molasses
- 3 cups lukewarm milk
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 6 tablespoons shortening
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- About 6 cups all-purpose flour
- About 6 cups whole wheat flour
- 2 cakes quick-acting yeast

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water, add sugar. Let stand 10 minutes. Scald milk, add molasses and salt. Cool milk to lukewarm and add yeast mixture. Combine the flours and add all but 1 cupful. Hold that until you know whether it is needed. Some flours require more liquid than others. Then add softened shortening, mix well and turn out onto a floured board. Knead dough until it is elastic and does not stick to the board. Place in a greased bowl and cover. Allow to rise until doubled. Shape into 4 medium loaves and place in greased tins. Let rise to top of tins or double in bulk. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 1 hour.

You'll want a variety of sandwich fillings on hand. Include these in your repertoire:

- *Deviled Egg Spread. (Makes 1 serving)
- 1 hard-cooked egg
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- Mustard
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon chopped parsley
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
- Chop eggs fine. Add other ingredients and mix well.
- *Liver Sandwich Spread.
- 1 chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 1/2 pound liver sausage
- or steamed liver
- 1/2 cup cream
- Salt and pepper

Put liver through grinder or mince. Mince eggs. Brown onion in melted butter until light brown. Mix all ingredients well. Keep spread in cool place.

Bacon Cheese Sandwich Spread.

- 3 ounces cream cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped, cooked bacon
- 1/2 teaspoon horseradish
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon milk
- Blend all ingredients and store in the refrigerator until ready to use.

Flaked Fish Spread.

- 1 cup fish flakes (salmon or tuna)
- 1 tablespoon chopped celery
- 1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle
- 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1/2 tablespoon catsup
- 1 teaspoon horseradish
- Salt and pepper
- Mix all ingredients together and store until ready to spread.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Sorting the contributions to the nation's scrap rubber drive has been a tremendous job. There are more than 75 types of rubber scrap, but most reclaimed rubber tonnage is derived from tires.
Rubber plantations covered over eight million acres at the outbreak of the war and had a potential production capacity of 1,600,000 long tons a year, according to rubber experts. Our synthetic rubber plants, some of which have already exceeded rated capacities, are expected to turn out over 1,000,000 long tons a year when operating at peak.

USO Make Records For Service-Men

The Ocean Beach USO entertainment committee announces that a street dance with the Coast Guard band furnishing the music will be given in the near future. Sundays are drawing large crowds, starting with swim facilities, trunks for use, check room and showers; a buffet supper from 6 to 7 p.m. and recordings to send home from 8 to 11 p.m.

The USO is grateful to the Chamber of Commerce for their donation of $45 worth of baked goods for the canteen. Purchase of this food is to be divided equally between the two local bakeries.

The Ocean Beach Baptist church has been added to the list of donors of cakes and cookies each month. The citizens of Ocean Beach are cordially invited to visit the USO clubrooms at 5017 Newport at any time and see for themselves how much the boys and girls in military service appreciate the refreshments and recreation afforded them there.
